

MONEYGRAM'S GLOBAL GIVING PROGRAM

Focus Area Objectives

MoneyGram supports organizations that strengthen the global communities it serves. Each year MoneyGram contributes to local, national and international programs that will directly benefit communities of people likely to rely on money transfer and bill payment services.

MoneyGram understands its success is directly related to being a good corporate citizen. The company's goal is to use its resources and skills in the following three focus areas when determining whether or not a request fits the funding criteria:

- 1. Basic Needs and Affordable Housing: MoneyGram supports programs or services that provide housing, shelter, food, water, basic health care and other basic needs service to individuals and families in our global community.
- 2. Basic Education: MoneyGram believes that we have a responsibility to support programs and services which inspire adults and children to have a more promising future. This includes programs that support academic readiness and appropriate grade-level achievement, social adjustment for academic success, parenting skills and classes for adult basic education including English as a second language programs. MoneyGram especially seeks to fund programs providing basic literacy and language skills. Programs focused on financial literacy are also considered.

3. Disaster Relief: MoneyGram supports programs that provide support to those suffering from disasters and crisis events such as emergency food shortages around the world. These grants are offered at the discretion of the MoneyGram Global Giving board of directors and are not available by application.

Each focus area is defined by the MoneyGram Global Giving Board and is reviewed on an annual basis.

In the United States, contributions are limited to 501(c)(3) non-profit organizations, Globally, MoneyGram awards donor advised grants with the help of prominent organizations that complete grants internationally in accordance with all U.S. laws. All applicants must complete the MoneyGram Global Giving application process. Applications can be found on our website or by calling MoneyGram at 952-591-3839.

As a general rule, MoneyGram does not offer corporate contributions for:

- Individuals
- Religious organizations not related to social services
- Political, labor or veterans organizations
- Private foundations or public broadcasting companies
- Fraternal organizations
- Environmental or animal rights organizations
- Arts, recreation or athletic events or programs
- Research programs

If it is necessary to decline support of a worthwhile organization or program, the decision is not reflective of the value of the organization or program, but rather on the need to be selective due to limited resources.
